UNEMPLOYED PROBLEM OVER Charity Workers in Omaha Believe

Municipal Farm and State Hospital is the Solution.

WILL RID CITY OF VAGRANTS

With the prospects good for a state for a municipal farm outside the city, providing Governor Morehead signs these two bilis passed by the legislature, Omaha charity workers and those interested in solving the unemployed problem from year to year are seeing visions of a solution. With a municipal farm they feel they would have one definite place work and my they are unable to find it. They would send them to the municipal form to work for a few meals and a bed and thus would get their potatoes hoed, their corn plowed and their alfalfa

Then there is another phase of the situation which the state hospital in connection with the medical school would help to solve. This is the care of those who claim to need medical attention, the cripples, the sick and the injured who me into the city and beg.

There are just two stories put up by the "paphandler on the street-either he is out of work and cannot find work, or he is too sick to work and is seeking money to get him to a hospital 1,000 miles away at his alleged home.

The institution of both a state hospital and a municipal farm at Omaha would immediately answer these two arguments of the street beggar, is the assertion of those interested in the movement. If a man was unable to get work he vould be sent to the municipal farm to work for his board for a time. If he wanted medi cal attention and desired to solicit funds for that purpose he would be directed to the state hospital where some of the best medical and surgical talent in the city would be engaged in clinical work for the instruction of the students and for the help of those who are unable to pay their hospital bills.
